OR

- 3 Do the opinions of the chorus and minor characters affect how positively tragic heroes are viewed? In your answer, you should refer to at least two plays. [30]

Section B: Homeric Epic

Answer Question 4 and either Question 5 or Question 6.

- 4 Read the passage and answer the question.

The polished doors were closed; but Athene swept through like a breath of air to the girl's bed, leant over her head and spoke to her, taking the form of the daughter of a ship's captain named Dymas, a girl of Nausicaa's own age and one of her closest friends. In the form of this girl, bright-eyed Athene said: 'Nausicaa, how did your mother come to have such a lazy daughter as you? All your shining clothes have been left lying about neglected, but you may soon be married and need beautiful clothes, not only to wear yourself but to provide for your bridegroom's party. That is how a bride gains a good reputation with people, which brings great pleasure to her father and her mother. Let us go and do some washing together the first thing in the morning. I will go with you and help, so that you can get it done as soon as possible, because you certainly won't remain unmarried long.'

5

10

(Homer, Odyssey 6)

Using this passage as a starting point, discuss how typical this is of the depiction of Athene in the Odyssey. [20]

EITHER

- 5 'Trojans are presented more sympathetically than Greeks in the Iliad.'
How far do you agree with this statement? In your answer, you should discuss at least two Greek and two Trojan characters from the Iliad. [30]

OR

- 6 'Homer's epics are still relevant because their themes are timeless.'
How far do you agree with this statement? In your answer, you should discuss both the Iliad and the Odyssey. [30]
