One of the benefits of travelling abroad is that it allows people to explore new places. It can be a good opportunity to learn more about unfamiliar cultures and traditions. Last year I took a two-week holiday on a ship visiting various countries. That travelling experience provided me with a chance to learn about a vast range of ancient civilisations.

The holiday programme included sightseeing tours on some of the islands we visited. I was excited to try food that was entirely different from what I am used to eating in my country. During the journey I met people from around the world. I was amazed at the things we had in common even though we were all strangers.

There were no boring moments on the ship. Every day there was a wide choice of entertaining activities and in the evenings passengers could choose from a variety of plays and films.

Waking up in a new city every day and enjoying the sunrise from my window was a wonderful experience. Travelling on board a ship is a perfect way to relax for young and old alike. I would definitely advise my friends and family to go on a similar trip.
